Receive your interlibrary loan articles by email

A faster method of delivery for interlibrary loan articles

You can request articles to be emailed directly to you in secure PDF format. Just follow the steps below.

Step 1: Test that you can receive secure PDF documents.

Download a test document from the British Library website: http://www.bl.uk/sed

If you do not have Adobe Digital Editions installed on your PC, the Adobe Digital Editions detector will ask you to install it. Installing is free and only takes a minute.

Check there is no pop-up blocker in action to hinder the download

Note:

- SGUL Staff can contact ITAV@sgul.ac.uk to get help with installing Adobe Digital Editions on their work computer.
- NHS staff and SGUL students are advised to install the software on their home computer.

Once the software is installed and you've been able to receive the test document, you will be able to request articles by email.

Step 2: Request to receive articles by email

Tick the box provided for receiving articles by email on the online or paper request form.
Further information available on our website: http://www.library.sgul.ac.uk/resources/interlibrary-loans

Please include your current email address on the form.

Step 3: Download article from your email inbox

Your article will arrive from this British Library email address: noreply@bldss.bl.uk

Download the document within 30 days of receipt; after this period the document will automatically be deleted.

The document can only be printed once. Once downloaded, most documents can be stored in Adobe Digital Editions for up to 3 years, but it is recommended that the article is deleted once printed.
