About this guide

This selective guide has been compiled to highlight the range of nursing related resources available to members of Trust staff.

The books in this selection have been grouped by topic and listed by title, following by Author or Editor, date of publication and call number (this will tell you where you can find it on the Library shelves):

We've covered some of the most commonly borrowed nursing topics/specialties but this is by no means an exhaustive selection. Don't forget you can always visit the Library website <http://library.sgul.ac.uk/> and use Hunter to search for your chosen topic.

This guide also features information on journals and databases available either via the Library computers or offsite via an NHS OpenAthens account. Please see the 'Help' section of the Library website for detailed guides on using these resources.

We hope that some of the resources listed can help you with your day-to-day work, support any courses you may be doing and prepare you for revalidation.

Journals

St George's Library subscribes to thousands of electronic journals, including hundreds of nursing titles spanning a wide variety of specialties. The vast majority of these are available online only, but we do display a limited selection print journals and magazines in the quiet study area at the back of the Library.

Off-site journals

NHS staff have access to a wide range of journals available through their NHS OpenAthens login. You can use this login to view full-text journals from any computer with an internet connection.

To browse or search the titles available, please visit the NICE journals page: <http://www.library.nhs.uk/booksandjournals/journals/>

Key nursing titles include the British Journal of Nursing and Journal of Advanced Nursing. To view the full content you are entitled to - including resources that St George's Library purchases for our Trust users - you will need to login before browsing.

If you don't have an OpenAthens account, you can self-register for one here: <https://openathens.nice.org.uk/>

Make sure you use a Trust/Library computer to complete the online form, or use your Trust email to verify that you are NHS staff.

On-site journals

NHS staff also have access to SGUL (University) electronic journals, but these can only be accessed whilst in the Library, unless you have a joint contract with the University.

To browse or search the titles available, please visit our journals page: <http://www.journals.sgul.ac.uk>

Full-text access to the content of these journals is only available through the Library computers. If you are registered with us you can request a login for these PCs from the Library Helpdesk during staffed hours.

Online resources

The Royal Marsden Manual of Clinical Nursing Procedures is available to NHS staff as an online resources. You can access the manual either with your OpenAthens login or directly through the Nursing & Midwifery pages on the trust intranet (no login required).

Databases

Your OpenAthens login also allows you access to 8 healthcare databases. The platform you can use to search across these databases is called HDAS (Healthcare Databases Advanced Search) and is also provided by NICE. If you are looking for articles relating to your chosen specialty, or want to set up alerts for the most recently published research in your field you can do so through HDAS.

Please visit <http://www.library.nhs.uk/hdas> where you'll be prompted to login with your OpenAthens details. Of the 8 databases you have access to, CINAHL and BNI have a nursing focus, but Medline and EMBASE will also contain useful references.

Library staff provide regular training and 1-2-1 sessions in using these resources. Please see the 'Training' section of the website for upcoming dates, or email liaison@sgul.ac.uk to enquire about booking a 1-2-1 or group session for your team.

Mobile Resources

Library staff also regularly test and review mobile apps and resources that may be useful to NHS staff, as well as SGUL staff and students. These normally have a healthcare focus, but not exclusively so. You might like to take a look at our Mobile Resources blog and check out our recent reviews here: <https://sgulmobileresources.wordpress.com/>

DynaMed Plus

DynaMed Plus is an evidence-based clinical decision support tool which St George's Library has subscribed to exclusively for Trust staff. It covers over 3,400 clinical topics, reviewed by doctors, and provides diagnostic information as well as evidence-graded treatment recommendations. It's designed to be used at the point of care and is available as a web-based tool and an app - you can access it through your OpenAthens login details or directly through the Library's page on the trust intranet (no login required). See the Mobile Resources blog for an in-depth review.

How do I join the Library?

Please visit the Library helpdesk during staffed hours (Mon-Fri 8am-6pm) to complete a registration form. Be sure to bring along your staff ID card which you can then use as your Library access card.

Staff based in the community can also join online, there is an online form in the 'NHS Staff' section of the Library website.
